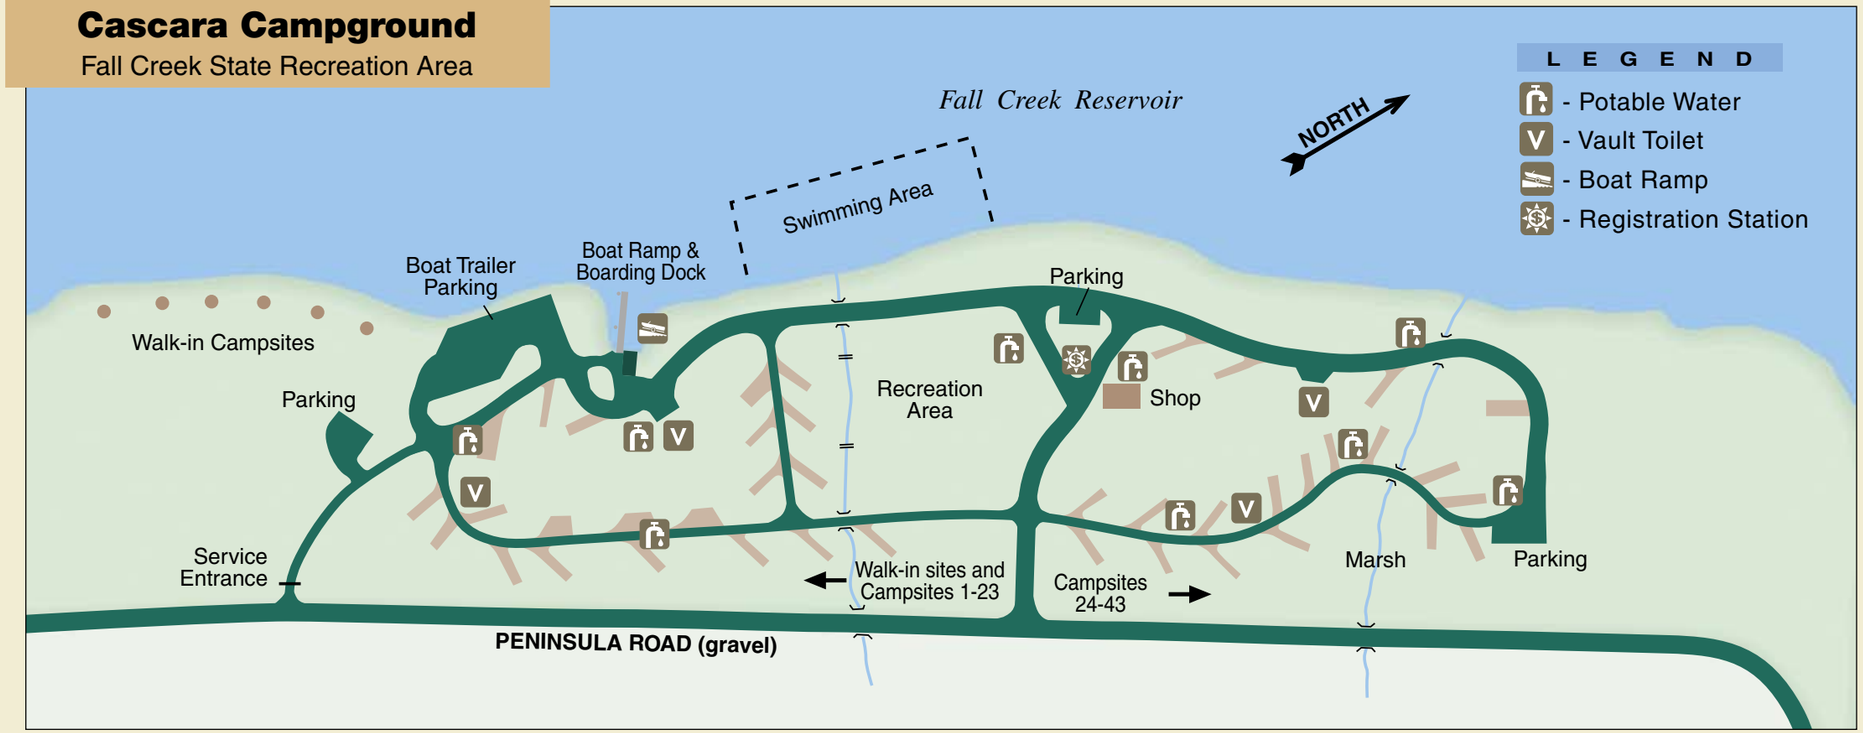
Cascara Campground

Fall Creek State Recreation Area



Fall Creek Reservoir is a prime recreation area surrounded by day-use parks and a campground. It's a hot spot for jetskiers and waterskiers. Fishing includes bass, catfish and rainbow trout.

Cascara campground, on the upper end of the Fall Creek arm of the reservoir, is just 30 minutes from Eugene/Springfield. It's a cozy, private place for a weekend retreat or mini-vacation during the week, when it is exceptionally quiet and serene. The 47 primitive campsites are tucked away amid towering Douglas-fir trees, and perfect for tenters who remember that there are times when "roughing it" means just that. Every site comes equipped with a fire ring and picnic table. A swimming area, complete with a deck, is located at the edge of the campground. The boat ramp is nearby, too. The campground is open May 1 to September 30.

Looking for a place to camp with your group? A reservable group camp, Fisherman's Point, is just across the road from Cascara campground.

Fisherman's Point

THE DETAILS:

Cascara campground:
Open May 1 - Sept. 30. 47 primitive sites.

Fisherman's Point group camp:
Open May 1 - Sept. 30. 8 sites. Max. 8 people per site.

Winberry day-use area:
Open May 1 - Sept. 30. Boat ramp. Swim area.

North Shore day-use area:
Open year-round. Boat ramp.

For more information, call (541) 937-1080.

To make reservations for Fisherman's Point call Reservations Northwest, up to nine months in advance, at (800) 452-5687.

Cascara Campground